graduation thesis

Title	Supply Chain Finance start-ups: a market overview
Language	English
Supervisor	Prof. Antonella Maria Moretto
Thesis Summary	The thesis had the objective to investigate the market of Fintech start-ups that offer Supply Chain Finance services. The goal was to perform a quantitative census that permits to build a comprehensive database mapping extensively SCF start-ups at a global scale, investigating in detail the services they offer and outlining their most intrinsic characteristics. The research tries to encourage incumbents to establish partnerships with the new entrants considering the crescent number of SCF start-ups, the favourable regulations and the potential benefits, while, on the other hand, it points out to companies that want to adopt SCF practices the presence of numerous start-ups that offer SCF services by means of an innovative and customer centric offer.
